

SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS

Answer the following:-

1. What is a social institution?

A- A social institution is a permanent structure that fulfils the desires of human beings.

2. Explain the functions of family

A- 1. Nourishment of the members.
2. Security and socialization

3. What are the features of social institutions?

A- Features of social institutions-

1. Universal

2. Social institutions have Roles.

3. Social institutions fulfil the basic needs.

4. Written and unwritten rules and regulations.

5. Interconnected relationship.

What are the types of social institutions?

The state, family, marriage, court of law, are the few types of social institutions.

Answer in 4-5 sentences-

Explain the relationship between social institutions and society.

Social institutions fulfil the social needs of human beings. The social institutions in that whole of roles, status, moral values and functions catering the social needs of human beings. It has organized belief, practices and activity systems.

Society, in any aspect like jobs, life style, culture, thoughts and rituals differ from one geographical area to another. If one enters a rural area, numerous cattle, sheep and other domestic animals are visible.

2. Explain the idea of religion as a social institution?

* Socialization - religion is one of the main medium of socialization. It aids the spread of value like truthfulness, patience, peace, sacrifice and others by various customs and rituals.

* Social unity - religion fosters unity. Truthfulness, honesty and non-violence are some of the religious values that aid the social unity.

* Protection of values - Religion aids in the preservation of values like truthfulness, honesty and non-violence.

* Social control - Religion is one of the major means of achieving social control. It controls the human life through good and spiritual concepts.

3. Explain the functions of family as a social institution.

DATE _____
PAGE NO. _____

* The family assigns relationship to all its members. The members function as per their roles. The main role of the family is to nourish its members. Leaders like grand parents take care of babies with caution till they become grown ups.

* The family educates the children about interacting with society through socialization. It also provides social security to the members. It mainly provides skills and nourishment needed for the younger member to become part of the society as adults.

Write a note on Marriage.

Marriage is an important social institution. It provides social sanction for a man and woman to live together family life. It allows the couple to stay together and lead a life of religious, economic and cultural life.

fill in the blanks:-

3. Social institutions fulfill the ~~social~~ ^{social} needs of human beings.
4. Family is a social institution.
5. Social institutions are medium of cultural transfer.
6. Religion aids in protection of values.

S. 22/10
10/10/20

-: primary of it. source.

to adapt transfer etc. no. 10/10/20

- no. 10/10/20 to adapt transfer etc. 10/10/20